 GOOD DESIGN BEGINS IN THE HEAD OF DESIGNER AND ENDS IN THE HEART OF THE OBSERVER.

HOME FIVE-ROOM HDB FLAT IN SEGAR ROAD SIZE 1,84SQF

As with most present-day couples, the homeowners of this Segar Road apartment wanted a sleek, contemporary space that could meet their storage and display needs. Both were keen on a black and white theme, while the wife specifically required a showcase to display her doll collection.

Designer Raymond Lam of Sky Creation proposed a number of major structural changes to reconfigure the flat and achieve the neat, uncluttered feel the couple sought. One of the layout changes involved the master bedroom, where two bedrooms were combined into one spacious sanctuary complete with a roomy walk-in wardrobe.

The austere colour scheme also made its way onto a feature wall (that incorporates the TV, too) in the living room, with black mirrors and laminate contrasting with a white laminated console niche at its bottom. ▶

The customised bed headboard in the master bedroom is also clad in a black, leather-like laminate, with the dark look softened by grey curtains. The space also features a cut-out glass wall, akin to a large picture window, that offers a peek into the living area.

The living room itself sees a similar palette and material treatment – from the black and white glossy laminates for the feature wall and TV console to the mirrored panels that line the length of an entire wall. But the main attraction here is really the full-height glass display cabinet housing the wife’s doll collection. Accented by cove lighting, the toys bring cheeky pops of colour to the otherwise monochromatic interior. ▶

HOME THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT IN TANJONG RHU SIZE 1,184SQF

Like the home featured before it, this three-bedroom condo also features a predominantly monochromatic colour scheme. The priority of the clients – a couple with a young son and daughter – was to make their compact apartment more spacious. The lady of the house also shared her preference for the colours black, purple and white with designer Suki Huang.

The master bedroom fittingly incorporates the wife's preferred colours while creating a "romantic mood", says Suki. The feature wall housing the TV console is lined in wavy purple-patterned wallpaper, with this wallpaper design also used on the opposite wall above the bed's headboard. The headboard itself is clad in purple PVC upholstery and flanked by floor-to-ceiling black mirror panes that add visual volume to the room. The walk-in wardrobe, which takes its space from another bedroom, was also a request from the wife. The open wardrobe cabinets showcase clothes and bags almost like a boutique. Its "cool" factor is enhanced by black gloss laminate, full mirrored walls and a chandelier.

To get around the apartment's compact dimensions, the designer created a multi-use shoe cabinet at the foyer that also doubles as the back of the customised dining booth seat. The neat, geometric dining table is tailor-made, too, from white solid surface. This leads into the kitchen, which sports a counter made of the same material. The kitchen cabinets, however, are a jolt of red – a bold colour choice that adds drama to the space. DS
